A Talented group of seniors performing in the Piedmont East Bay Children's Choir top two ensembles, Ancora and Ecco, will light up the stage at Yoshis for Jazz and Beyond on May 21, 2018. There are 21 graduates within the groups, most have been a part of PEBCC since they were young grade school children. They will be performing contemporary arrangements with their usual conviction, style and grace that is trademark of the Piedmont East Bay Children's Choir.

Senior Kay Sibal, 10 year PEBCC Member, senior that has arranged a contemporary rock song for this concert has contemplated her final appearances with the Choirs:

"I look forward to sharing my performance with the choir that has been my constant creative outlet for the majority of my adolescence! With PEBCC I seriously think I'm surrounded by some of the best musicians, student and teachers, in the entire country, and I am so glad to share one of my last performances with them. "

Executive Director Molly Lloyd says "this is the one performance where we showcase soloists. With this year's crop of seniors and their accrued experience and talent, it promises to be truly spectacular."
